The Investment Company Institute's 1993 Investment Advisers Conference will be held on June 16-18 at the Capital Hilton Hotel in Washington, D.C. The attached brochure describes the highlights of the conference and the panels, whose discussion will focus on current developments in SEC regulation, ERISA developments, legislative developments, compliance issues and state developments. In addition to the program described in the brochure, the conference will feature a vendor exhibition of products and services that are available to investment advisers. The conference will open with registration in the exhibit hall at the hotel, where a buffet dinner will be served for arriving attendees throughout the evening from 7:00 until 10:00 pm. Registration continues the next morning before the keynote address and panel presentations begin. This will be the seventh investment adviser conference sponsored by the Institute since 1984. Excellent panelists have agreed to lend their experience and expertise to the conference. Attendees will benefit from not only the panel presentations but from the question and answer periods which follow each session. For those who wish to participate, we will have small group discussions on a variety of subjects during breakfast on Friday morning. To register for the conference, please complete the form attached to the brochure and return it with your check to the Institute. Note that registration will not be accepted by phone or fax. Please make your hotel reservations by calling the Capital Hilton directly at 202/393-1000. Until May 26, a block of rooms is being held for conference attendees, so be sure to mention that you are attending the Institute's conference when you call the hotel. We look forward to seeing you in June. Thomas S. Selman Assistant Counsel Attachment
