Digital Assets: What Fund Directors Need to Know from a Regulatory and Operational Perspective

Both industry participants and regulators are increasingly focused on activities relating to digital assets. This webinar reviewed regulatory compliance and operational considerations associated with investment management activity in cryptocurrency and other digital assets, including portfolio management and disclosure. Panelists helped fund directors get a sense of what they should know in their oversight role. Participants were encouraged to access a risk alert on the topic from the SEC's Division of Examinations.
